WEST CHESHIRE MUSEUMS

27 Grosvenor Street, Chester, CH1 2DD

Located in England's most picturesque city, the Grosvenor Museum's nationally important collections celebrate Chester's cultural heritage. The Roman galleries explore life in the Roman fortress of Deva and display the largest group of inscribed and sculpted Roman stones from a single site in Britain. The paintings and sculpture in the Art Gallery span half a millennium of art in Cheshire, while the Silver Gallery presents the definitive collection of Chester silver. Nine period rooms illustrate changing fashions in domestic interiors from the 17th century to the 1920s. Further galleries explore the area's natural history and display highlights of the costume and coin collections.

Monday – Saturday 10.30am-5pm, Sunday 1-4pm. Closed Good Friday 19 April..

Disabled access

Wheelchair access to the ground floor, including Exhibition Gallery One, Lecture Theatre and accessible toilet. No lift to Art Gallery, Costume Gallery or Exhibition Gallery Two on first floor.

Grosvenor Museum, Chester

Until 24 February Memento Mori: Tombs and Memorials in Cheshire

Exhibition Gallery Two

As we remember the centenary of the end of the Great War, this exhibition presents watercolours, drawings, prints, photographs and sculpture showing how Cheshire has commemorated its dead from the Romans to the present day. With tombstones, tomb-chests and mural slabs, public sculptures, cenotaphs and a shrine, the imagery of commemoration ranges across the centuries with knights and their ladies, parents and their children, skeletons and skulls, heraldry, saints and angels.

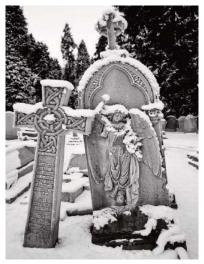

Supported by the Megan Gwynne-Jones Charitable Trust, Grosvenor Museum Society, Chester Archaeological Society

Until 22 April Dead Normal: Death in Everyday Life Exhibition Gallery One

Death is a universal occurrence people have always died, and still do. The ways we have thought about and interacted with death depend on many factors and have changed over time. This exhibition explores the ways different cultures and communities have tried to make sense of the end of life, mourned their loved ones, and chosen to remember them. Supported by Co-op Funeralcare

Until 7 July Unexpected Elegance: Female Fashion

Costume Gallery The 1970s are often called 'the decade that taste forgot', but the dresses in this small exhibition show that this was far from true. From minis to midis and maxis, in fabrics ranging from cotton and corduroy to polyester and fake leopard-skin, with designs by Ossie Clark, Givenchy and Zandra Rhodes, we celebrate some of the more subtle pleasures of 1970s fashion.

5 February - 10 December Charles Kingsley: Christian Socialist and Natural Historian

Chester Cathedral Library

Open by appointment with George Brooke on 01244 351432 or george.brooke@manchester.ac.uk. No wheelchair access.

This exhibition commemorates the 200th anniversary of the birth of Charles Kingsley (1819-1875). It explores his activities as a social reformer, notably his interests in sanitation and clean water and, as reflected in his famous children's novel The Water-Babies, his campaign against the use of child chimney sweeps. The exhibition also engages with Kingsley as a natural historian and associate of Charles Darwin. He became a canon of Chester Cathedral in 1869 and established the Chester Society of Natural Science, which led directly to the founding of Chester's Grosvenor Museum.

Exhibitions

Grosvenor Museum, Chester

2 March – 2 June David Ferry: The Invader's Guide to the Museum (and other places)

Exhibition Gallery Two

Tourists and hobbyists rely on helpful guides. Picture books on travel, history, gardening, cooking, knitting and DIY have provided David Ferry with material for his collages that explore our national heritage. Likewise museums, both large and small, serve as repositories of a shared culture. Arranged and re-arranged, their contents can tell different stories. Alongside an exhibition of his prints and books, Ferry will give his own interpretation of the Grosvenor Museum's collection through selected interventions. Guest-curated by Stephen Clarke, University of Chester.

20 April - 6 October Going the Distance: 480 Years of Racing at the Roodee

Coin Gallery

Once likened to racing on 'green velvet' by jockey Lester Piggott, Chester's hallowed Roodee turf is uniquely positioned at the heart of the city. As the racecourse celebrates another milestone in its illustrious history, this exhibition presents objects and images from the Chester Race Company and the Grosvenor Museum to explore the origins and heritage of the oldest racecourse still in operation in Great Britain, if not the world.

Presented in partnership with CH1 Chester BID

Wednesday 15 May Chester's Civil War: regional capital or damp squib?

Lecture Theatre

1-2pm. £3, pay at the door. In the first of three lectures examining the English civil war of 1642-46 in this region, Professor Peter Gaunt explores Chester as a royalist stronghold and parliamentarian objective. He assesses the role which the city might have played, perhaps should have played and in reality actually did play in the war waged by the two sides, as seen from (often starkly differing) local, regional and national perspectives.

A University of Chester event

Wednesday 22 May Cheshire's Civil War: three months of action, three years of stalemate

Lecture Theatre

1-2pm. £3, pay at the door. In the second of three lectures examining the English civil war of 1642-46 in this region, Professor Peter Gaunt explores the civil war within Cheshire. He assesses the key aspects of the county's war and in particular how and why, after much of the county had been conquered and secured by parliament early in the conflict, the war then turned out to be something of a long-drawn-out and rather static stalemate. A University of Chester event

Thursday 23 May Britain in the Fifties

Lecture Theatre

3-4.30pm, drop-in. Suggested donation £2. A chance to enjoy a nostalgic look at Britain during the 1950s in the comfort of our Lecture Theatre. Film show, plus handling session with artefacts from the decade and 1950s-themed refreshements. This activity is aimed at older people, those living with dementia, their families and carers.

Wednesday 29 May

North Wales's Civil War: there's a war on, but where's the fighting? Lecture Theatre

1-2pm. £3, pay at the door. In the third of three lectures examining the English civil war of 1642-46 in this region, Professor Peter Gaunt looks west, across the border, to reassess the standing and nature of royalism in northern and mid Wales. He examines the very different experience of the war there and explores how parliament and parliamentarian generals based in neighbouring Cheshire and Shropshire eventually managed to quell and overcome North Walian royalism.

Lion Salt Works, Northwich

Ollershaw Lane, Marston, Northwich, Cheshire, CW9 6ES

The Lion Salt Works is a restored historic open-pan salt making site in the village of Marston, beside the Trent and Mersey Canal and close to the remarkable Anderton Boat Lift. This £10 million project opened in 2015 and was voted the UK's Best Heritage project in the 2016 National Lottery Awards. It offers a fascinating journey through the life of the country's last open-pan salt works. When exploring the site and its restored buildings, you will discover how the Salt Works operated and the impact of salt on mid-Cheshire's people, economy and landscape. Your visit will also set the scene for a wider exploration of the footpaths, waterways and attractions of the adjacent Northwich Woodlands and the Weaver Valley.

Admission

Adult £6.25, concession £5.50, child £4. Other ticket options available. Free access to café, gift shop, butterfly garden, play area, canal towpath and car park. Charges may rise in April.

Museum open Tuesday – Sunday, Good Friday & Bank Holiday Mondays 10.30am-5pm. Play area and butterfly garden open daily 9am-5.20pm.

Exhibitions

Until 17 February Visual Arts Cheshire presents Twelve Images of Northwich

Lion Salt Works is proud to be showcasing the twelve artworks that feature in Visual Arts Cheshire's 2019 Northwich calendar. Produced by local artists, these captivating images offer viewers twelve scenes of Northwich and surrounds, presenting the region's beautiful landscapes and incredible industrial heritage.

5 March – 27 May Wartime Industry and Working Women in Cheshire. 1914-1950

During the first half of the 20th century, Britain's involvement in the two World Wars led to a great shortage of industrial and mechanical labourers. necessitating a significant shift in the gender balance of the industrial workplace. Curated by Joseph Roberts, this exhibition explores Cheshire's important contribution to the war effort, the stories of the valiant women who kept the county (and country) going during the conflicts, and their continued contribution to local industry in the aftermath of war and beyond.
